

Kilpatricks Hill Meet Thursday 4th November 2021

'A perfectly pleasant day'

Present: John Anderson, Mary Cox, Fred Craddock, Colin and Monica Farrow, Chris Huxham, Suzanne Kane, Pete Lee, Elizabeth Maitland, Rosemary Masteron, Ania Owsianka, Henry Perfect, Dave and Mary Reynolds, Caroline Thompson, Dave Watson, Garrey Whyte

A very good turnout for a midweek day meet on a fine, bright Autumn day with 18 members. The meeting point of the Kilpatricks car park brought it's usual challenges, for those unfamiliar with it's location this leads to a detour over the Erskine bridge.

A good chance to catch up with friends who hadn't met for many months as we all set off towards the hills. Various parties formed to head upwards via the road/and track, direct or via the zig zag paths.

We enjoyed many stops to admire the fantastic views.

Several parties met up at the top of the Slacks. (365m) An enquiry about how the landscape had formed gave Garrey the opportunity to share his knowledge of geological forces.

The joined up parties descended to Greenside resevoir before heading up towards Duncolm.

Groups converged for lunch just below the summit of Duncolm.

Ending up with 15 Glenmorans on the summit of Dumcolm (401m).

We descended to Loch Humphrey over Middle Duncolm and headed down, initially on the track and then into the beautiful old woodland.

I was indeed as Suzanne described

'A perfectly pleasant day'
